34th Year, No. 16 — Shaker Heights High School, Shaker Heights, Ohio — June 3, 1964

NSF Presents Three Juniors Summer Grant

The National Science Foundation has awarded three Shakerites, Beth Dunlop, Jeffrey Grotte, and Andrew Mellman, coveted summer grants. They will spend the summer of '64 studying under the Foundation's program which is specifically designed for juniors.

Beth will be attending Goucher College in Baltimore from June 29 to July 21, studying sociological and economic courses.

Jeff's grant is for seven weeks. He may continue his program on a weekly basis for the next year if he is chosen for that honor on the basis of his summer studies at Case Institute. He will be taking courses in number theory, computer theory, and topology.

Andy will spend June 29 to August 21 in downtown Chicago, using his grant at the Illinois Institute of Technology. His studies include computer programming and probability.

NSF Treats

The Foundation pays all of the tuition costs for gifted and deserving juniors. Students may apply in late March for the program. Information can be obtained through the Foundation's pamphlet or the Group Counseling classes. An applicant must submit essays, teacher recommendations, and a transcript of his personal record.

Graduating Seniors to Hear Well Travelled Administrator

Dr. Vernon Alden, president of Ohio University, will address the 612 members of the graduating class at commencement exercises to be held at 8:30 p.m. on June 11 at the Masonic Temple Auditorium.

Also on the Commencement agenda are Donald Emery, superintendent; the presiding speaker, Principal Russell H. Rupp, who will present the class; Dr. Robert Killam, Minister of the first Unitarian Church of Cleveland, and the A Cappella Choir. Alan S. Geismer and Mrs. Bruce Griswold of the Board of Education will distribute the diplomas.

The principal speaker, Dr. Alden, is the fifteenth and youngest president of Ohio University, yet at age 38 he brings with him many years of experience with college and college-bound students.

After working in college admissions at Brown University, his alma mater, he served as Associate Director of College Admissions at Northwestern and later assumed the post of Associate Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

For two summers Dr. Alden taught and directed an Advanced Management program in Tokyo, Japan. He has also visited educational institutions in Paris, Rome, Istanbul, Calcutta, Bangkok, and Hong Kong and was a founding member of the Institution d' Administration des Affairs in Paris.

Seniors Choose Pekoc, Chokel For 1964 Citizenship Awards

Joan Pekoc and Jeffrey D. Chokel have been selected by the senior class to receive the Shaker Square Citizenship Awards for 1964. The winners were elected from a field of six candidates on the basis of personal integrity, high scholastic standards, leadership, and service to the school.

Joan demonstrated these leadership qualities to her classmates in serving as an editor on Gristmill, secretary of the senior class, vice president of French Club, member of Demerit Panel, and recording secretary of Social Council. Her many interests have made her an active participant in Swimming Leaders Club, Shakerite, and Girls' Intramural Athletics.

Scholastic Honors

Scholastically Joan has won a Scholarship Key and has earned an honorable mention in the Ohio General Scholarship Competition. She is planning to attend Connecticut College for Women where her major will possibly be psychology.

Jeff has participated as a leader in an extensive program of activities by serving as an editor of the Shakerite, president of the senior class, member of Student Council Executive Board, chairman of Student Aid Committee, and a member of Central Committee. He also has participated in A Cappella Choir, and intramural athletics.

Wins Scholarship

Jeff's journalistic talents have recently been recognized in winning an award in the St. Bonaventure Scholastic Press Contest and in being selected as the first recipient of the Sigma Delta Chi Journalism Scholarship. Jeff will attend Princeton University and will major in journalism.

The runners-up in this 18th annual awards competition were Nancy Crumbine, Harriet Deane, Ed Kovachy, and Alan Farkas. Each runner-up receives a book award from the Dad's Club.

The Citizenship Awards have become one of the greatest honors a Shaker senior can receive. The names of the winners, announced on Honor Day, are inscribed on a plaque in the main hall.

Tutors Increase Welfare PACE Answer Cleveland School Play

Mrs. Ray E. Bolz at an after-school assembly on Wednesday, May 27, in the small auditorium challenged Shakerites to tutor this summer in the Program for Action by Citizens in Education (PACE).

Susie Galvin and Dan Lesnick, both presently tutoring in an experimental group consisting of fifteen Shaker students, spoke from personal experience.

Named "Summer '64," the PACE program aims to provide individual instruction for 2000 elementary school pupils in the Cleveland city schools.

Leaders of the program anticipate 500 volunteer tutors drawn from over 40 high schools in the Greater Cleveland Area. Beginning June 22 and span six weeks, this effort promises to provide 30,000 hours of instruction.

The lack of personal, individual instruction in the Cleveland School System is a critical problem. Many pupils require such attention to master fundamental subject matter; without a firm grasp of these fundamentals, further learning is impeded.

Aims Defined

PACE aims at several specific goals for "Summer '64." It plans to increase the intellectual productivity of individual students by stimulating a desire to learn. Another major aim is to raise the classroom teacher's efficiency by reducing the extent of learning problems.

Shakerites were given the opportunity to volunteer for the program after the assembly, May 27. Tutors will teach for three hours each week. General subject matter will include elementary reading, arithmetic and spelling. The YMCA, brand libraries, service groups and churches will provide centers for instruction.

Chokel & Co. Greet Seniors At Exotic Shaker House Prom

Over nine hundred people, six hundred seniors and their guests, will attend the 1964 Senior Prom at the Shaker House Motel next Tuesday night, June 9, from 9:00 to 1:00.

Shaker House Motel will provide the decorations but no distinct theme is planned for the evening. Hal Lynn and his band will provide the entertainment.

Receivers

A receiving line consisting of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Geismer, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rupp, Jeff Chokel, and his guest Annellen Minkin, will greet the seniors.

The highlight of the prom will be the traditional crowning of the Senior Prom Queen by Jeff Chokel, senior class president. The five finalists for this honor are: Courtney Dobyns, Nancy Gulasy, Sue Graham, Penny Weed, and Patti Warren.

This prom will be the first in Shaker's history held at the Shaker House Motel, and the first in six years not held at Byron Junior High School.

This new location was picked by the School Board from three selections proposed by the senior class officers led by Jeff Chokel and Sheryl Bilsky.

Courtney Dobyns, senior class social chairman, and Mrs. Thekla Wiley, Shaker's social director, also participated in the planning of the other aspects of the prom. Mrs. Wiley handled the sign-up and fees from May 18 to May 29.

Students Rule City For One-day Term

For one historic day, May 29, Shaker students coped with the problems of municipal government in Shaker Heights. From May 1 to May 29 a training program prepared Shakerites for the duties they assumed.

Participants in the program were chosen on the basis of a written exam covering local, state, and federal government, the recommendation of a teacher, counselor, and employer, and the student's interest and ability. The final decision was made by the Civics Committee in co-operation with Mr. Martin W. Meshenberg.

The participants took over the government for one day at the end of the month-long intern period in which each student received instruction in the duties of one government department.

Acting Mayor, Ted Einstein, headed the twenty-five students who held government positions for the day. Other participants directed various departments such as Law, Service, Finance, Police, and Fire. Seven other students acted as councilmen.

Better Late Than Never; Cockrell Receives Award

Scott Cockrell has become Shaker's fourth National Merit finalist to receive a scholarship. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation gave the award in a rare late decision.

Scott underwent the qualifying test and Scholastic Aptitude Test, and he submitted school records and recommendations along with the other finalists.

When notices of the three winners reached the school it was accompanied by a note stating that there might be a few more winners due to new sponsors or cancellations of other scholarships.

Exactly nine students in the entire country received such late awards.

An active interest in sports is one of Scott's assets. He played Junior Varsity football and has participated for two years on the Varsity wrestling team.

He works in the paperback bookstore and his favorite subject is Advanced Placement math. Scott will attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall.

Praises Schools

When asked to comment on his accomplishment, Scott chose to praise the schools. "A lot of credit for this scholarship should go to my teachers at Shaker who always tried to make their classes interesting for the individual.

"Credit is also due my elementary and junior high teachers who always tried to make me 'work up to capacity,' even when I didn't want to."

Scott Cockrell

Embryo Honor System Thrives On Applied Personal Integrity

The function of Shaker Heights High School as stated in the Student Handbook is "to encourage genuine love of learning and to maintain high scholastic goals . . . to acquire standards for aesthetic, moral, and spiritual judgment and to enjoy a rich personal life." Regardless of the high tenor of this lofty ideal, students seldom take actions on basic issues to give it meaning.

With the various pressures and values (or lack of values) established by the environment of this school, the sense of moral responsibility in attaining an education seemed to a group of student to be declining. Under the leadership of Harriet Deane, they formed a committee and spent many long hours discussing the problem. They responded to the problem with a plan for an Honor System. A pilot program of their system has recently been established.

The Honor System in its practical aspect means that a student pledges that he will not cheat on tests or homework. The precise meaning of "cheating" is determined in each individual classroom, since each classroom situation is different.

A vote of two-thirds of the class in favor of the Honor System establishes the program within that class. Any student who votes against the system and feels that he cannot be a part of this situation can take tests apart from the class under the teacher's supervision. However, objections to the program are drawn out in the preliminary class discussion and made to face the rational thinking processes behind the system.

Violations of the system are defined in accordance with the class definition of cheating. When a violation occurs, the student who witnesses the action personally informs the teacher that a violation of the system has occurred. The student then approaches the person who has broken the classroom trust and gives the individual the opportunity to go to the teacher and discuss the infraction on his own. If the teacher is not approached by any student within a reasonable length of time, the teacher finds the name of the violator from the student who reported the violation.

A situation of trust and respect is established between the teacher and each student in striving toward competence, success, and personal satisfaction in the attitude and work of the individual. The upholding of this trust between teacher and student is of vital concern to every student, not only as a matter of moral responsibility, but also as a matter of striving toward the best atmosphere in which that student can acquire knowledge.

The pilot program has worked because teachers have taken time to discuss rationally the program with their students. It has brought forward matters of vital concern to every student serious about getting an education at Shaker.

The Honor System can make being at Shaker a meaningful experience; it has begun to change the present atmosphere and attitude of both students and faculty members. Regardless of success or failure, however, it cannot be contested that a group of students has done its best to make the program work.

President Speaks

Farkas Praises Hard-Working Chairmen and Executive Board

by Alan Farkas

The Student Council was successful this year for many reasons. I would like to name 29 of the main reasons here and offer them my thanks personally and on behalf of the student body.

The Executive Board was particularly conscientious. Ed Kovachy, our vice president, managed the first successful Demerit Panel in many years and individually carried out many important projects.

Helen Kronenberg, our secretary, with her inexhaustible energy and constant smile, was a definite asset, as were the treasurers, Alice Hecht, Cindy Goulder, Barbara Bonder, Stanley Baiman, and Andy Goodman. The class representatives were Jeff Chokel, Mark Webber, and Dede Ordin.

The standing committee chairmen did probably 80% of all the Council work. They were truly an outstanding staff. Harriet Deane headed the largest welfare drives in Shaker's history and initiated and directed the Honor Committee. Steve Foxman was the first chairman to make the Safety Committee a real active force.

The Civics Committee chairman, Bob Williams, aided by Joe Blake, added the Government Intern Program to the already active schedule. Space allows me to mention the other committee chairmen: Carolyn Aaron, Publicity; Chris Adler, Assembly; Nancy Dolin, Student Employment; John Garnett, Lost and Sometimes Found; Joe Owens, Activity Ticket; and Bonnie Paull, Club.

Ed Buxbaum, although not a chairman, was active on many committees, as was Bill Stern, who ably headed the Class Ring Committee.

Of the many other temporary committees formed, the more important chairmen were: Annellen Minkin, High School Bowl; Andee Ulevitch and Barry Frankel, Paper Vending Machines; Scott Cockrell, Beth Lazerick, and Bill Blank, Paper-back Book Store; and Susie Weisberger, the Variety Show. I am deeply grateful to all of those chairmen.

Were this column a page, I would feel that I had adequately acknowledged the many students who have directed their energies toward Student Council. To the many I have cited, I sincerely say "Thank you."

Dropout Druian Chicago-Bound

"I have a lot to learn, and not enough time to learn it," states Peter Druian, a junior, explaining why he is going to college next year.

Peter, who jokingly calls himself a high school dropout, will not spend his senior year at the high school, but instead will enter the University of Chicago as a freshman in the fall. He says that he can profit more from a year's study at Chicago than from continuing his high school education.

He claims that, although he maintains excellent grades, he is not learning enough significant material and is not intellectually stimulated here.

Preparation

In preparation for next year, Peter has done a great deal of outside reading. He has read approximately fifty books, dealing mostly with psychology, sociology, science, and education.

Peter decided to apply to the University of Chicago for several reasons. The most fundamental of these reasons is that the school accepts qualified students regardless of age or grade. He feels that the University provides an atmosphere conducive to serious learning and is impressed by the informality of the campus and the independence of the students.

At the present, Peter plans to study in the field of scientific research, although he intends to pursue many subjects before he finally decides his future.

The Shakerite recently received recognition for the quality of its work and the Shaker page in _The Plain Dealer_. Jeff Chokel, Mike Sands and William Kahrl also won awards for their service and Burton Randall received a Special Citation in the Faculty Adviser of the Year

Bishop Spreads AFS Gospel; Aussies Enjoy '63 Yearbook

The following is a letter from Shaker's American Field Service exchange student in Australia, Mary Jo Bishop:

Dear Shakerites:

I really love it here. There are so many great and interesting people and so many new things to do and learn every day.

School work here is really no harder than Shaker and my study habits have improved. My subjects include: English, German, History, Math, and Biology. In addition, I'm singing in the Madrigals and playing on the hockey team.

The Madrigals are similar to Chanticleers. We did Elizabethan madrigals for Shakespeare Day on April 23rd. We will spend one hour a week for the whole year studying Macbeth. The girls end up almost knowing it by heart. I do an average of 4-5 hours of homework a night! (We do not have a telephone!)

Publications Represented

My '63 Gristmill is really big out here. Everyone wants to see it. They also like the school papers and the pictures of the school ring. But what fascinated everyone the most was the goofy half of the April Fool's edition of the Shakerite.

Last Sunday we went with our next door neighbors on their boat around some of the Sydney beaches. As we passed one cliff, someone pointed out little lookout boxes on the cliff where the Australian soldiers used to watch for the enemy during World War II.

Over Easter vacation we went to the Royal Easter Show. It's like a State Fair only bigger. It's the biggest show of its kind in the world. It was great. Recently we went to Port Kembla where we visited a steel factory—one of the largest in the world. It is about 70 miles south of Sydney.

Yesterday we went to the Regatta, a boat race. The Regatta is a big sports event for the G.P.S. (Greater Public Schools—they are private by our standards). This is the name of one of the two leagues of boys' schools.

At night we went to a dance at The Scots College (one of the schools). Scots is steeped in Scottish tradition to the point that their band wears kilts and plays bagpipes. The dance was a lot of fun and the school campus is beautiful.

Between First and Second Term we are going to Canberra and Melbourne. Canberra is the capitol of Australia. It should be a most interesting trip. The autumn leaves are just beautiful now.

In the few weeks I've been here it's funny how much more I feel I am an American, especially when I had to tell about the Civil War in my History class. I am really very happy here. Everyone is anxious to be helpful in any way. Life is so full and interesting.

Yours always,
Mary Jo

Sound of Music to Fill Carnival; Tent-ative Bill to Include Jazz

By Mike Book

The eleventh season of Musicarnival will begin this coming Monday evening, with the first performance of The Sound of Music. For the eleventh consecutive summer, Clevelanders will be offered the experience of this now nationally recognized, uniquely significant and alive theatrical institution.

This institution specializes in presenting musicals, from grand opera to the most recent Broadway hits. In its ten years it has offered seventy-seven productions of fifty-nine different shows totaling over 1,115 performances.

More important, however, and no less indisputable that the quantity of Musicarnival's productivity is its quality. This quality is based on the fact that Musicarnival, along with only two out of a total of thirty-two summer stock theaters, has chosen to base its appeal on top-rate productions in every aspect rather than on the names of well-known "stars."

The performers for its productions are top-rate professionals who might work during the rest of the year on or off Broadway, on television, or continue an intensive study of acting, dancing, or singing.

Experimentation

Free, then, to turn its resources towards other aspects of the theatre, Musicarnival continues to experiment and make valid progress in many fields. It has the only tripod support over the stage of arena tent theatres, allowing it to "fly in" scenery and to use "follow spots." Plans are now under way to excavate the stage to facilitate quicker scene changes and other innovations. Most important, in an arena theatre of this sort, every inch in the confines of the tent becomes legitimate acting area.

With its six musical productions and nine Sunday Jazz Concerts, Musicarnival will give to anyone who chooses to seek it and be emotionally open to it, a valuable and significant experience.

Of all the testimonials Mr. Rupp has received, none seemed to please him more than the school board's decision that the Shaker stadium henceforth will officially be designated "Russell H. Rupp Field." Donating the inscription atop the stands will be the physical education-coaching staff and former Shaker athletes.

In retrospect . . .

Let's face it. The unblemished record of the football team made "Shaker" a one-word joke to all too many people. Hogwash.

Granted, first impressions often mean something; but this year the Red Raiders disproved that theorem. As a matter of fact, since fall, Shaker has produced some of its best performances in recent years.

Wrestling this year was a joy to behold. Under the tutelage of Ed Zednik, the team came through with a 9-3 slate, second place in the L.E.L., and the first defeat of Euclid in ten years. There's more joy in Mudville, too, as Pollock, Loveman, Peterson, and Phil Wolkin this year's district contenders, will all be back next season.

After a slow start, the swimmers picked up steam and finished third in the L.E.L. The high point of the season was the terrific upset of highly-touted Canton McKinley, a meet that saw more people in the pool than in the bleachers. Oh yes, junior Rennie Crane is state breast-stroke champ.

Jerry Goetz and company flirted with the .500 mark throughout the basketball season. The final slate showed an 11-11 deadlock, third slot in league competition, and one representative on the All-L.E.L. team.

But the pride of Shaker this year was Fred Heinlen's varsity nine. They narrowly missed state contention, but nevertheless managed to cop an L.E.L. first place, sport a 21-4 record, and deposit pitcher Goetz on every all-star squad in sight.

So things turned out to be not so black after all. And what with the bevy of returning sophomores and juniors, you might say things still look rosy for the Red and White.

Heinlenmen Cop League Championship; Goetz, Krumlauf Inspire Winning Ways

Shaker's baseball Raiders scored 25 runs to their opponents' 4 in three crucial games in late May and thus assured themselves of at least a tie for their second straight LEL championship.

The Raiders overwhelmed Shaw, 11-0, on Monday, May 18, edged Euclid, 5-3, that Thursday, and trampled Valley Forge, 9-1, on Monday, the 25th.

In the Shaw game, Shaker never gave their opponents a chance. Pitchers Jerry Goetz and Bobby Kidd hurled two-hit baseball while the team built up a huge margin on the slugging of Goetz, Krumlauf, and Danny Biello, who together totaled eight RBI's.

Euclid Romp

Coach Heinlen's boys made it look easy against Euclid, too. The Raiders jumped on top in the first inning when Krumlauf tripled and Goetz singled him home, and added two more runs in the third on successive singles by Rodd Heinlen, Biello, and Krumlauf. The Panthers managed to score three runs of their own, but Shaker pulled ahead to stay in the fifth inning when Goetz and Krumlauf each knocked in his second run of the afternoon. Goetz also turned in a masterful performance as Shaker's pitcher. The left-handed senior allowed only three hits and struck out 13.

Against Valley Forge, the Raiders let their opponents make the mistakes. They picked up three runs in the first inning when Goetz singled and Lyman tripled, each with two men on base, and added two more on Patriot errors in the second. In the next inning, the Raiders scored their last four runs, three of which came on a home run over the centerfielder's head by Rick Krumlauf. Goetz pitched no-hit ball against the Patriots until the fifth.

After those eight fateful days from May 18 to May 25 were over, statistics for the three games played showed that Krumlauf and Goetz had batted in 14 of the team's 25 runs, that the team as a whole had compiled an amazing .360 batting average, and that the Shaker Raiders stood alone at the top of the Lake Erie League.

Speedster Sandy Armstrong's supersonic pace makes his form appear as a blur before our camera. Along with Jim Krause, the lanky junior represented Shaker in Columbus, but both failed to place there.

Jumpers Shine at District; Lose Luster at State Meet

High jumper Jim Krause and hurdler Sandy Armstrong carried Shaker's hopes to the state track meet at Columbus on Saturday, May 23, but failed to dent the scoring column in the championship event won by Craig Wallace, Dayton Dunbar's spectacular speedster, single-handedly.

The Ricemen traveled to the district meet on the previous weekend and both aces turned in surprising thirds to secure their berths in the state meet. Armstrong, who was picked along with miler Chris Matey as next year's team captain, streaked to a third in the high hurdles, and then hustled around the curve to qualify in the low hurdles also.

Krause Shines

Krause qualified by clearing the horizontal bar at 6'1" as he outleaped two of the area's top jumpers hampered by injuries.

Although they have little better than an even record in dual meets, the thinclads have been very impressive in the bigger contests and this was no exception.

They accumulated 10 points and a tie for seventh place out of an especially rugged field of 18 teams. Euclid was the only LEL school to finish ahead of Shaker with both schools looking toward the league meet.

Steve Dono, who recently has been heaving the shot put consistently over fifty feet, secured a fourth in that event, while the 880 relay team, although unable to place, covered the distance in their best time of the year.

The Raider runners easily walloped Parma and were nosed out by Brush, 64-53, while preparing for the climaxing L.E.L. championships held last weekend.

Gym Nymphs Covet Laurels At Varsity Tea

Fifty-two girls received recognition for participation and achievement in the girls' athletic program at an Awards Tea given by the Girls' Leaders Club on Monday, May 25, at 3:30 in the Social Room.

The awards are given to girls when they have accumulated a specified number of points that can be earned through participation in intramural, interclass, and varsity sports.

Four Cups

This year 36 girls received letters. Four seniors Anne Carter, Linda Henning, Hana Umlauf, and Jitka Umlauf achieved the high prize of a cup.
